

2021 August PIN Update

Last Wednesday night, the U.S. Senate voted to move forward with a historic bipartisan infrastructure agreement. The vote on Wednesday allowed debate on the package to open and passed by a margin of 67-32, with 17 Republicans joining Democrats.

Late Sunday night, Senators finalized legislative language and released the bill. The Senate will debate the legislation throughout the week, with a final vote expected on Thursday.

What's in the agreement?

- Total investment of $1 trillion for the infrastructure spending bill.
- Included in the funding is over $550 billion in new spending, broken down below with its corresponding ASCE Infrastructure Report Card categories.
